SCHOOL CHILDREN TO WRITE VOLUME

Scholars in Elementary Grades
Will Publish Guide Book of City.

TO HAVE NINETY PAGES

Will Be Given as Souvenir to Delegates at National Education Convention.

As a feature of the coming convention in this city of the superintendents in the National Education Association a ninety-page illustrated guide book of Richmond is being prepared by the children in the elementary schools of the city. Not only will all the descriptive and historical matter in the book be written by the children, but the cost of the printing will be borne by them. The books will be given to the visiting school superintendents as souvenirs of the convention. More than 3,000 prominent educators will attend the gathering.

Under the plans announced by the local entertainment committee, the subject matter for the guide book will be obtained by the competitive method. The seventy-five subjects for historical and descriptive essays will be divided among the graded schools and all the children asked to write on a single subject. The essays will be submitted to competent judges and the best paper on each subject selected for the guide book. To defray the cost of publication each of the 20,000 children attending the city's public schools will be asked to contribute at least 1 cent.

Already Reserving Rooms.
Although the convention is not scheduled to meet until February 23, many rooms in hotels have already been engaged by persons planning to attend. The sessions of the convention will continue until February 28. The delegates will include United States educational experts, State superintendents, county superintendents, city superintendents, and high school and graded school principals.

The convention will be divided into sections and the sessions held in the John Marshall High School, the Young Men's Christian Association and other large auditoriums. The City Auditorium is the only building large enough to seat all the delegates coming to the convention. Fortunately the entire membership will not come together except for one or two night meetings. The local committee is planning to entertain the visitors extensively. Trips to Williamsburg, Hampton, Charlottesville and battlefields around Richmond and Petersburg are under consideration.

On the local entertainment committee are: Joseph H. Saunders, chairman; Charles H. Hatcher, A. H. Hall, J. C. Harwood, F. C. Ebel, J. G. Corley, W. Floyd Reams, W. J. Kimbrough, W. T. Dabney, E. S. Goodman, Mrs. Mary C. B. Manford, J. C. Metcalf, S. C. Mitchell, P. W. Botwright, Mayor George Alsble, R. L. Peters, R. C. Stearnes, F. W. Duke, Thomas R. McAdams, Barton H. Grundy, E. R. Fuller, J. S. Bryan, C. R. Cooke, W. H. Adams and E. R. Chesterman.

HAVING HIS TROUBLES.
J. Fred Birrell Resigned for Views on Suffrage Question.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Alexandria, Va., January 7.—J. Fred Birrell, who was recently a member of the State Legislature to represent this city and Alexandria County, is already having his troubles. Mr. Birrell has been besieged with women, who desire to know his attitude on the question of woman suffrage, which matter will in all probability come before the Legislature at its coming session.

Mr. Birrell recently announced his intention of presenting a bill looking to more drastic divorce laws, owing to the fact of the present divorce laws in the state hundreds of mismatched couples, mainly from Washington, annually journey over to this city to have the nuptial knot untied.
